This spectacular Orchestra includes a Serbian brass band, string ensemble, and choir. This is certain to be one of the most talked about world music events for years to come! The Selected Film Scores of Goran Bregovic Series, the first in a number of events as a result of this new partnership with the Austin Public Library, is part of The Performing Arts Center's Lifelong Learning Program; an agenda designed around educational and community events, which brings together the University of Texas at Austin campus and the Central Texas community. Lifelong Learning serves the public by working with community and civic organizations, educators, and members of the public.
